

Jennifer Brown

Jennifer Brown, PhD, has directed institutional research functions for Connecticut State University and UMass Boston. She has been in institutional research for over 25 years and holds a doctorate in Sociology from the University of Connecticut. She currently serves as President of the Board of Directors for the Association for Institutional Research.