

Emily Dibble

Dr. Emily Dibble has been a senior administrator at urban community colleges for 14 years. Before succumbing to the lure of higher ed administration, she was a faculty member at the University of Pittsburgh's Learning, Research and Development Center. Keeping track of how well her college fulfills its mission periodically requires helping to make interesting things happen.