

Eric Gaze

Eric Gaze directs the Quantitative Reasoning (QR) Program at Bowdoin College. He is the current chair of the Mathematical Association of America's Special Interest Group in Quantitative Literacy (SIGMAA-QL) and Vice President of the National Numeracy Network, for whom he writes a column, Ratiocination. Prior to Bowdoin, Eric was an Associate Professor of Mathematics and Education at Alfred University and led the development of a Masters in Numeracy program for K-12 teachers.