

Ellen Wentland

Ellen Wentland has a Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in Social and Organizational Psychology. For the past six years, she has taken the lead role in working with faculty at Northern Essex Community College on program review and program and institutional-level learning outcomes assessment work. In addition, she has worked with a number of administrators, staff, and faculty on other program evaluation initiatives.