

Kimberly Ketchen

Kimberly Ketchen is a reading specialist at the Lowell Elementary School in Watertown, Massachusetts. She is also a member of the data team that organizes and analyzes assessment scores in order to design and implement effective reading instruction for all students. Formerly, she was a literacy coach and fourth grade teacher at Prospect Hill Academy Charter School, Early Childhood Campus in Somerville, MA. Ketchen completed her Reading Licensure through The Reading Institute, Williamstown, MA. She completed her graduate work in Curriculum and Instruction at the University of Maryland, College Park where she received an M.Ed. She also graduated magna cum laude from Nyack

College with a B.S. degree in Elementary Education.