

Matt Folan

Matt Folan has worked in Hartford Public Schools for over 17 years. He has been a teacher, school counselor, Dean of Programs, and Principal. He is currently Principal at University High School of Science and Engineering. Matt was awarded Magnet Schools of America's Region I (CT, ME, MA, NH, NJ, NY, RI, VT) Principal of the Year for 2014. His expertise includes leadership in promoting diversity and equitable academic success for all students. University High School of Science and Engineering is an early college high school located on the campus of University of Hartford with a focus on Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) featuring early college partnerships where students can take courses on campus and earn college credits at no cost.