

Katharine Tracy Barnes

Tracy Barnes currently serves as the Director of Institutional Research at Brown University in Providence, Rhode Island. The role of her office is to support planning and evaluation efforts of the University; coordinate Brown's response to externally mandated reporting; and provide information for institutional affiliations and accreditation. Tracy recently completed a term on the Council for the AAU Data Exchange and currently is a Steering Committee member for NEAIR. Tracy has a B.A. in Psychology from Brown University and a M.A. in Clinical Psychology from Clark University in Worcester, MA.