

John Lucas

John Lucas is Provost and Executive Vice President at the School for International Training (SIT) where he is responsible for the academic mission and vision of the institution's Master's degree programs and professional certificates in Vermont and Washington, DC, portfolio of research-based undergraduate study abroad programs in more than thirty countries, and a high school summer program offering immersive experiential learning in 25 countries. He is an expert in the field of international education including ten years of experience designing and leading international programs in Spain. Lucas created an educational technology platform in eighteen countries and designed a curriculum that harmonizes standards for language teaching and intercultural communication across ten world languages. Lucas has held senior international positions at the Institute for Social and International Studies at Portland State University, CIEE and IES Abroad. Lucas holds a PhD and MA in Spanish from Penn State University and an MA in International Education from SIT. He is fluent in Spanish, Catalan, and French with proficiency in German and Italian.