

Joe Swingle

Joe Swingle is Senior Lecturer in Sociology at Wellesley College. He began teaching at Wellesley College in 1999 while completing his PhD work at Harvard University. His teaching and research interests include statistics and research methods, inequality, higher education, and changes in the American family over time. His work has appeared in Change, Liberal Education, Numeracy, The American Prospect and in several edited volumes. Practice for Life: Making Decisions in College is his first book.