

Rebecca Lewis

Rebecca Lewis is Department Chair and founder of the Foundations of Health program at Holyoke Community College. Her current role includes teaching, advising, curriculum development, assessment, and program development. She has implemented innovative practices in advising and career exploration and created two new degree options. Under her leadership, the Foundations of Health program has become the second highest enrolled program at the college and student success rates have improved dramatically. She holds a Master of Social Work and Master of Public Health from the University of Washington.
