

Kim Marshall

Kim Marshall, a former Boston Public Schools teacher, principal, and central-office curriculum director, now coaches principals, gives workshops and courses on school leadership, and consults with school districts, often on rethinking teacher supervision and evaluation. He publishes the weekly Marshall Memo, summarizing best practices from 64 publications, and is the author of Rethinking Teacher Supervision and Evaluation (Jossey-Bass, 2009, second edition 2013).