

Judith Turcotte

Judith Turcotte is the Director of Planning and Assessment at Holyoke Community College, MA. She has over 25 years of experience in community college higher education administration and has worked as a senior level administrator in the President's Office, the Office of Academic Affairs, and the Office of Institutional Development. She provides leadership and oversight to college-wide strategic planning, the assessment of all academic programs, and interdisciplinary faculty teams in the assessment of student learning outcomes. Judith serves as the College's accreditation liaison and is responsible for the preparation of all accreditation self-studies and reporting. She holds a Master of Science Degree in Science Education from Oregon State University.