

Stacy Sweeney

Stacy Sweeney has been serving as President of Bay State College since 2015 and is the first female president to serve in the College's 70-year history. Students at this Boston (Back Bay) Institution pursue career-focused studies in growing industries such as business, healthcare and IT. Dr. Sweeney has led the College in creating and implementing Vision2020, a strategic plan that fosters a one-college model offering students a more flexible, affordable and efficient path to graduation and career success. Dr. Sweeney has a reputation for successfully guiding institutions through periods of tremendous growth and change. From 2012 to 2015, she served as Chief Administrative Officer at Southern New Hampshire University. Previous positions include Vice-President of Operations for DeVry University and Group Vice-President for The Art Institutes. From 2006 to 2010, Dr. Sweeney served as a Commissioner for CIHE-NEASC. Dr. Sweeney earned her Ed.D. at the University of Pennsylvania, her M.A. from Antioch University, McGregor and her B.A. from the University of Pittsburgh.