

Richard Harrold

Dr. Richard Harrold is a former principal and history teacher who has spent the majority of his career in American overseas schools. Currently the accreditation officer at ACS International Schools group, he is responsible for policies, compliance and steering the four ACS schools through their respective accreditation processes. ACS was among the first group of schools to embark on the ACE protocol in 2015-16 and is also leading the conversation between various bodies to ensure the time and resources schools devote to self-studies are of optimal benefit.

Dr. Harrold is married with three children. His wife is Head of Art at the American School in London, and his three children all attend American international schools.